I, Gary Valot, owner and installer of All Seasons Doors & More, Inc. and having been in the garage door trade for 27 years, have been using Arm-R-Lite products for most of the length of my career. The quality of their products are superior to other manufacturers. The doors have "old school" value in the sense of strength and durability. Their doors not only hold up better than other doors, they are also available in a wide range of colors and needs.

Arm-R-Lite doors are installer friendly, in the sense that the tracks come assembled and they come with pre-drilled hinge holes.

Arm-R-Lite Door Manufacturing doors have the "old school" durability with the looks of doors that people want in today's changing world.
